Mr Mike Rann was Premier of South Australia for nearly a decade and one of the world's first climate change ministers. His state easily leads Australia in renewables with 54% of the nation's wind power. He chaired the Climate Group's States and Regions network and is involved with the Ecological Sequestration Trust.