

DSDS 2015

Heads of State, Nobel Laureates and thought leaders recently converged at the 15th Delhi Sustainable Development Summit 2015 (DSDS) to find solutions for some of the key issues that will shape our planet. This flagship event of The Energy and Resources Institute (TERI) provided a unique platform to further the developmental dialogue on this years theme of 'Sustainable Development Goals and Dealing with Climate Change'. The DSDS 2015 is significant as the post-2015 development agenda is being finalized -- the United Nations General Assembly (UNGA) is expected to adopt the new set of goals in September 2015 and the climate negotiations (Conference of Parties – CoP21) will be held at Paris later this year.