

Astrid Schomaker

A lawyer by training, Schomaker is Director for Global Sustainable Development in the European Commission's Directorate General for Environment. Since joining the Commission in 1992, she has held a variety of posts in the areas of international relations and environment policy, amongst them leading the work on chemical policy, marine issues and the EU's environment policy strategy to 2020.