

Marioldy Sanchez Santivañez

Peruvian Forest Engineer with specialization in Social Management and Project Monitoring & Evaluation. Associate of AIDER, Peruvian NGO specialized in environmental conservation and sustainable development in forest landscapes. Former member of the UNCCD CSO Panel in representation of Latin America and the Caribbean and current CSO observer to the Science-Policy Interface of the UNCCD.

Fourteen years of experience in the design and implementation of forest conservation and sustainable development projects in the Amazon and drylands of Peru. Expertise in the facilitation of participative processes of sustainable land management and forest conservation with local communities, including indigenous communities.

Technical advisor in initiatives of sustainable land management. Participation in forest management certification under FSC standards and forest carbon projects certification.

Experience in collaborative initiatives with national and local governments in Peru on issues related to forest management, desertification and natural protected areas management.