

Par Dalin

Par Dalin is the President of DEVCCO - District Energy Venture in Stockholm, Sweden.

Pär has over 25 years of experience from district energy utilities and engineering industry and has held numerous executive positions. He is advisor to UNDP, board member of Euroheat & Power and he is the Swedish representative and chairman of Euroheat & Power District Cooling group. Pär holds a Bachelor degree from Thayer School of Engineering, Hanover, NH USA, and a Master degree from the Royal Institute of Technology, Stockholm.

Pär is today president of DEVCCO-District Energy Venture. DEVCCO is a Swedish company with extensive international experience in the strategic planning and policy making for governments, real estate developers and Industries as well as development and realization of District Cooling and Heating ("DHC") systems. DEVCCO also provides governance, management and advisory services for such projects and businesses. The DEVCCO management team has successfully developed and completed district energy projects globally representing investments of > $2.5 billion and CO2 reductions of > 2.5 million tons/year.

During 2017 DEVCCO was awarded the Global District Energy Climate Award and the Climate Clean Air Coalition Award for the District Cooling development in Doha, Qatar and Helsingborg, Sweden.