

Venkatesh Valluri

Mr. Venkatesh Valluri is the Chairman of Ingersoll Rand operations in India. He has been associated with various industries for over 30 years and has experiences spanning the regions of India, Europe and the US.

Ingersoll Rand (NYSE:IR) is a $14.0 billion globally diversified industrial technology company. It has a major presence in India that includes three Manufacturing sites and two Innovation and Engineering centers. Ingersoll Rand in India focuses on markets such as Food Security, Energy Efficiency and Sustainability, Climate Solutions, Comfort in Transportation and Industrial Efficiency.

Before joining Ingersoll Rand, Mr. Valluri was associated with the global measurement technology leader, Agilent Technologies, as its President & Country Manager.

Prior to Agilent he held various leadership roles at GE (General Electric) in India and abroad. He served as the Managing Director of GE's Silicones business in India and later as the Business Leader for GE's Specialty Materials business in Europe. He worked as the Vice President of GE's Corporate Business Development group and established multiple businesses and initiatives for GE's operations in India.

Mr. Valluri served on the board of United Way India as its Vice Chairman. He was a member of the Ministry-Industry Consultative Committee (MICC) under the Ministry of Food Processing Industries (MOFPI), Government of India. He serves as the Executive-Committee member of TERI (The Energy and Resources Institute), has been a member of the National Executive board of AMCHAM (The American Chamber of Commerce) and the Chairman of the U.S. India Energy Cooperation Program (ECP) in India. He also chairs the National Committee on Technology of the Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) and serves on the Prime Minister's Fellowship scheme board for Doctoral Research grants. He also serves as the Member of the Karnataka Knowledge commission instituted by the Government of Karnataka.

Mr. Valluri holds a Bachelor's in Technology in Electronics and an MBA from IIM Ahmedabad.