

Jaco Cilliers, Country Director, UNDP India

Dr. Jaco Cilliers currently works as the Country Director for the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) in India. Prior to that, he was the Deputy Resident Representative for UNDP in Uzbekistan, where he was responsible for the management and coordination of program and operations. He also worked with UNDP Cyprus as senior program manager and head of office. Before joining the UN, he worked as Deputy Regional Director for Southern and Central Africa for an international NGO and in senior advisory and management positions for development organizations in various parts of the world. He has significant experience working in development and conflict areas. Jaco completed his Ph.D. and Master's Degrees from George Mason University in the US, and his BA and BA-Honours Degrees from Nelson Mandela Metropolis University in South Africa. He specialized in sustainable development, social and political interventions, as well as reconstruction and transformation processes.

