

Ajoy Raychaudhuri

He is the Founder Director, Battery and Recycling Foundation International. He has done his Bachelor in Metallurgical Engg. From IIT Kanpur. He specializes in Electronic & Electrical Waste Management and VRLA Battery Technology. In association with UNCTAD he has examined end-of-life management of Used Lead Acid Batteries in India. Currently he is also looking at the batteries required for EVs and the kind of recycling infrastructure required for them. Besides this he has published in various international peer review journals. He was conferred Confucius Friendship Award in 2010, Qilu Friendship Award in 2012 by Shandong Province, China.

He is registered with the Senior Experten Service, Bonn, a GTZ funded organisation affiliated to the German Chamber of Commerce, as a SES Expert.