

Dr. Christian J. Engelsen

Dr. Christian J. Engelsen holds a Senior Scientist position at SINTEF. His research field of interest is processing and treatment of various waste types, integration of mineral waste into cementitious systems, technical and environmental performance. He is a specialist in metal binding mechanisms to cementitious systems and materials effect on drinking water. The Norwegian delegate to the European Organization for Standardization (CEN) since 2001. Engelsen has 20 years of experience with treatment and recycling of construction and demolition waste and is currently leading an Indo-Norwegian institutional cooperation between Central Public Works Department (Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs) and SINTEF. The 4-years program on construction and demolition waste is supported by the Royal Norwegian Embassy New Delhi. Engelsen has published more than 90 scientific papers in journals, book chapters, conference proceedings and technical reports. He has managed or has been key scientific personnel in more than 150 contract research projects.