

Tamiksha Singh

Tamiksha is a multi-disciplinary researcher with experience working on issues related to climate change, climate policies, sustainable development and gender issues. Tamiksha is qualified in finance and specialized in climate finance and is part of TERI's Earth Science and Climate Change Division. She is currently working on projects for the Networked Carbon Markets initiative, creating baselines and carbon crediting and pricing methodologies for private sector climate initiatives, and is developing a comprehensive landscaping of the various climate finance policy instruments and programmes in India, to assess their impact on generating investments for climate actions.